An Alexandria Candidate.

As has been previously announced, Mr. C. C. Carlin, of this city, is a candidate for the democratic nomination for Congress from this district. His friends are earnes by urging his claims as the successor of the late John F. Rixey, and regard him as a furnidable compatible. successor of the late John F. Rixey, and regard him as a formidable competitor in the race. Mr. Carlin is probably one of the most generally known of Alexandria's citizens, and almost since early manhood has been equally as well-known throughout the district. His ability for the position he seeks his friends claim is unquestioned, and his supporters feel confident that should he be elected he will devote his entire attention to the inwill devote his entire attention to the in-terests of Alexandria and the district. His champions urge the fact that Alexandria is the only city in the district, and that occasionally, at least, a repre-sentative from this city should be sent to Congress. Mr. Carlin's prominence in the political world is the result of his own individual labors, he having passed from rung to rung of the ladder by his own perseverance.
